THE ELLEN MILEO CONTEMPORARY ART PRIZE 2008

ENTRIES CLOSE: NOVEMBER 7 5.00pm
PRIZES: to the worth of $3000

“The secret life of ... Numbers”

The Ellen Mileo Contemporary Art Prize is named after a founding volunteer member of 69 Smith Street Inc and gallery.

69 Smith Street Gallery aims to be an innovative contemporary visual art exhibition space by measures of artist peers and public audience; to provide opportunities for the professional development of visual artists working in a wide range of art forms; and to promote public appreciation and understanding of contemporary visual art through critical debate.

The gallery is run on a voluntary basis by a dedicated group of artists. Before she died in March 2006, Ellen Mileo was a dynamic, gifted and generous member of the community. The prize aims to celebrate this spirit on an annual basis.

Each year, the gallery will host the prize to the theme of “The secret life of”. The theme for the 2008 prize is “Numbers”. There is no secret to the whereabouts of 69 Smith Street gallery. Artists are invited to contemplate the theme in relation to the site, or simply respond to the theme on a more personal level.
