3 D Printing Workshop

Come and learn about the new 3D printing technologies that are changing the world!

In these workshops you will get to see 3D printers in operation and how you can take an idea and turn it into an actual object.

From small plastic knick-knacks to medical applications, architecture, chocolate and robots; we'll show you some of the amazing 3D printing projects from around the world and how easy it is for you to be involved.

You will learn how to access online repositories of printable 3D objects and learn about the various 3D printing technologies available.

This introductory workshop requires no prior experience with 3D printing or advanced computer skills, and is a great way to understand how 3D printing will change the way we make things.
